Hello, Elder Phillip Larsen!

Here is an email, too, for when you get a chance to use the computer. I did send a DearElder letter as well.

I forgot to tell you that my friend, Lucie, who will be teaching me Portuguese, lost her husband last week. He died on Saturday. I went to the wake on Wednesday evening, and plan to spend more time with her. She will need that. I just need to figure out how to manage my time! There is always lots more to do than day to do it in, I find. Lately, it feels like going to funerals, wakes, and sending sympathy cards, must be my new hobby. I made a list of people who need special prayers because of illness, loss of a loved one, finances, and so forth. It is quite a list. But, I guess that's part of the Plan, to have trials, and then to die. So even though it is sad, it is a reminder of the Plan of Happiness, and that is a good thing!

I'll be putting together a package for you, with the things you requested, and a thing or two more. I look forward to your email soon!

Love,
Mom
